

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Improved Litz track rungs for urban Maglev Inductrack use are provided using an annealed, stainless steel square tube cut to length. A square packed Litz cable is installed within the square tube and compression of the rail is done using a punch press or brake to compact and compress the rail, thereby minimizing electrical resistance and increasing overall electrical conductivity of the rail.